01:01:51 Greta Lintelman: Do you see a possible increase in donations in the upcoming months? Miss seeing all that fun product on your listing. Also will regular stock be improving as we go along? Curious what they're seeing in the purchasing area.

01:03:12 Lisa Boyd (she/her) SHH: Like, Boom Chicka Pop! 😊

01:03:24 Greta Lintelman: YES

01:04:16 Linda Watertown Foodshelf: When we show income guidelines for TEFAP, it is not an eligibility for using a foodshelf, correct? If everyone using the foodshelf must sign that, it means that we have income requirements. This seems to go against the "anyone welcome" approach our foodshelf has.

01:05:48 Rachel Sosnowchik, Second Harvest Heartland: It'll be a long shot, but that's a piece of feedback about TEFAP that we've shared with members of Congress in these last few months-- ideally there wouldn't be any income guidelines or data collection related to TEFAP.

01:07:11 Linda Watertown Foodshelf: OK, it's not really possible to keep TEFAP foods separate. But I understand.

01:07:43 Andie Kukacka (He/Him) St. Peter Food Shelf: The lessening of personal information and documented eligibility requirements has made things so much easier for my food shelf.

01:08:30 SHH Agency Relations: 300% of poverty level now

01:08:34 Lisa Boyd (she/her) SHH: Yes, it's still 300% of federal poverty guidelines

01:10:16 Linda Watertown Foodshelf: We hear from people who have not come in yet, but said they wouldn't qualify. Then we tell them and they come in. I think it's just the idea that there are guidelines and they think they have to be "poor".

01:10:42 Lisa Boyd (she/her) SHH: Great point, Linda!
